ROME, June 18.

SOME time since, mention was made of a vulnerary water; the secret for making which, was known only to a criminal who had been condemned to die, but obtained his pardon on condition of his communicating it to his Holineſs. His Holineſs has granted an exclusive privilege to the author, for making and vending it in the Eccleſiaſtical State, by an edict, dated the 26th ult. ſtrictly forbidding any one to imitate it. This water has been examined by the moſt ſkilful Phyſicians and Surgeons, who have made a number of trials of its effects, the reſult of which is, that they have declared it to be moſt efficacious in ſtopping hæmorrhages of all kinds, as well thoſe of the arteries as from common wounds. It has been tried on ſeveral perſons with the greateſt ſucceſs, and experiments have been made on ſeveral animals, purpoſely further to experience its effects: The main artery of a lamb, and the crural artery of a dog being cut, and the wounds having ſome of this water applied to them, they were healed in forty-eight hours. This diſcovery, ſo valuable for humanity, will not die with its author, as his Holineſs is poſſeſſed of the receipt for making it, and we are told he has preſented a copy of it to the Emperor of Germany.

LONDON, June 9.

Extract of a Letter from Bruſſels, June 2.

"The diſtemper among the horned cattle having made its appearance in French Flanders, this government ordered a cordon to be formed in the neighbourhood of Burges, to prevent all communication with the places infected. This order was ſo rigourouſly obſerved, that the country Farmers, who came to attend the Burges market with corn, abſented themſelves for two market days, ſo that the inhabitants were a week without any corn to be bought, upon which they imagining the commanding officer to be the ſole cauſe of this ſcarcity, went in a tumultuous manner to his quarters, demanding him to be delivered up to them, which being refuſed, they forced into the houſe, which they almoſt deſtroyed.—By this time the guard of ſoldiers came, who having cleared the houſe, dreſſed the officer in queſtion in a ſoldiers uniform, and by that means ſaved him from the fury of the populace.

"Since the above affair, General Murray has marched to Burges with two Battalions, and ſix pieces of cannon; and we hear that every thing is quiet at preſent."

By the Maſter of a ſhip lately arrived from Oporto we learn, that four Spaniſh men of war were in the harbour's bound for the Eaſt-Indies.

June 24. It is ſaid that the Duke of Northumberland has been even requeſted to go Ambaſſador to France; on which account his Grace was ſent for from Alnwick Caſtle.

June 27. Various are the conjectures of different perſons about the ſteps neceſſary to be taken to ſtop the progreſs of Bankruptcy. A report has prevailed, that, at the inſtance of his Majeſty, a Council is to be ſummoned in order to conſider of, and put in execution, a plan for the ſupport of publick credit. It is certain, ſays a correſpondent, that ſuch a meaſure would, at all times, be ſalutary, but could, at no time, be more neceſſary than the preſent. The meeting of the principal Merchants at this critical juncture, and the reſolutions they have entered into to indemnify the Bank for diſcounting, is judiciouſly calculated to heal the wounds publick credit has received. But the conduct of the Directors of the Bank, during the late calamities, has been highly meritorious; and no man, in his ſober ſenſes, can blame them for refuſing to diſcount any bills, until they ſaw how matters were likely to turn out. The outcry made againſt the Directors, when they firſt gave publick notice that they would not diſcount, was fomented by thoſe whoſe chief dependence, being upon paper credit, naturally induced them to complain of a meaſure by which they were ſufferers. Yet this very meaſure ſhowed the penetrating ſagacity of the Directors; they ſaw the evil whilſt yet in embryo, and prudently therefore reſolved, at all events, to preſerve the publick funds immaculate. In ſhort, the Bank Directors have proved themſelves men every way qualified to diſcharge the national truſt repoſed in them, to the advantage of the publick; and as their aſſiſtance in the preſent emergency has, in all probability, been the means of preventing a general bankrupcy, ſo, had they aſſiſted at firſt, or aſſiſted afterwards, without ſecurity, they would, in the one caſe, have betrayed an incautious raſhneſs, and in the other, a ſpecies of imprudence to the laſt degree dangerous, in men who, from the nature of their offices, may be conſidered as the guardians of publick credit.

July 16. Yeſterday a Board of Trade was held at the Plantation Office, Whitehall, in conſequence of recent diſpatches from America.

Yeſterday diſpatches were ſent from the Admiralty to the Commiſſioners of the ſeveral Dock Yards.

A Board of Treaſury is ſummoned to meet on ſome important affairs this day.

Yeſterday an expreſs was ſent to Lord North in the country, to attend the above Board. And alſo the Council to be held this day at St. James's.

Yeſterday evening at four o'clock their Royal Highneſſes the Duke and Ducheſs of Cumberland arrived at Cumberland-houſe, Pall-mall, from Windſor Lodge.

An anonymous correſpondent ſays, we may aſſure the publick, from good authority, that notwithſtanding the pacific diſpoſition of our Miniſtry, and the happy tranquil ſtate their minions labour to perſuade us we are ſecure in; there were ſcarce ever known, even in the midſt of war, greater demands for all kinds of ſtores for the uſe of the navy than at preſent, inſomuch that the contractors in almoſt every branch, particularly hops, are far from being able to ſupply them on this emergency.

The ſame correſpondent alſo ſays, we may be aſſured that Meſſrs. Vere and Fletcher in Cornhill have received orders for 20,000 ſuits of ſeamens cloaths, and 50,000 Dutch caps, to be got ready with all expedition, and that in all likelihood preſs-warrants will be iſſued out before this month's at an end.

It is ſaid that letters of recall are ordered to be ſent to Henry Lyttleton, Eſq; his Majeſty's Ambaſſador at the Court of Liſbon, at his own deſire.

We are informed, overtures are now on foot between our Miniſtry and the Court of Denmark, relative to pecuniary appointments of the unfortunate Queen. This matter, we learn, is intended to be ſettled upon ſo eligible a plan, that it will preclude the poſſibility of its giving riſe to any future differences between the two power.

So critical are the affairs of the Miniſtry, that they are doing and undoing almoſt every hour. An expreſs was a few days ago ſent for a noble Lord to town, and about ſix hours after was countermanded. What can theſe things portend? The downfall of the Miniſtry, or new chains forging for the people? The latter pray that the makers may be the wearers.

A correſpondent, on reading in our paper, that the great defaulter had not yet made out his accounts, ſays, that the publick may ſuſpend their expectations, for his accounts will not be made out till after his death, when all ſecrets will be revealed by his will.

Lord———has certainly only been a cat's paw, and not the defaulter of unaccounted millions, as is imagined. He will undoubtedly never unboſom this affair, to the prejudice of thoſe who have moſt reaſon to be afraid, having pledged his life for their ſecurity; but when that life is at an end, then tremble defaulters!

Two great perſonages have actually the preſent extravagance of dreſs, in both ſexes, under conſideration to reform them, if ſetting the example themſelves, and enjoining all their dependents to imitate them, would do it. Indeed the many ill conſequences that the modern mode of dreſs has been the ſource of, has long called for a reformation.

If a native either of England, Ireland, or Scotland, commit any miſdemeanor in Spain, ſo as to be liable to puniſhment, inquiry is always made, by the proper officers, whether he is a machanick, and ingenious in his profeſſion. If he is, he is immediately ſet at liberty, on condition of his agreeing to go and exerciſe his art in ſuch place and manner as is thought proper by the emiſſaries of government employed for that purpoſe. This is proof enough how willing they are to give encouragement to our artificers; though our government by their indifferent behaviour, ſeem to think them of no more importance to the kingdom than ſo many jack aſſes.

An accommodation is almoſt completed between Alderman Wilkes and his lady, through the pious interpoſition of his amiable daughter; a circumſtance, which when finiſhed, will elevate him above the feeble attempts of the Miniſterial malignants, as he then will be maiſter of an immenſe fortune.

The proclamation inſerted in the Gazette of Saturday and Tueſday, for preventing any infection from the plague, which now rages on the continent, is ſaid to be one of the largeſt and moſt cautious ever publiſhed.

NOBLE BEHAVIOUR of the Preſent EMPRESS of RUSSIA.

A GENTLEMAN, named Carlowinſki, on an excurſion to his country ſeat, which was but few miles from Peterſburgh, accidentally ſaw a young woman of about twenty, daughter to one of his vaſſals, with whoſe perſon he was ſo much pleaſed, that he ſent an order to her father, deſiring that ſhe might be brought to his houſe that evening, very plainly declaring for what purpoſe he made the requeſt.—The old man, who was not utterly deſtitute of natural honour, was greatly ſhocked at the Command, and took the liberty of waiting on his Lord, at whoſe Feet he inſtantly fell, and implored, in the humbleſt manner, that he would not inſiſt upon the violation of his daughter. Inſtead of being moved with the tears and intreaties of his vaſſal, M. Carlowinſki was enraged to the laſt degree to find the ſmalleſt oppoſition to his will, and immediately ordered his ſervants to give him the Knout, a very ſevere kind of puniſhment, which is inflicted by tying the offender down upon his face, and beating him with ſticks upon the naked back, till he is rendered totally inſenſible through the excels of pain, and extreme loſs of blood. The young woman hearing by ſome means of her father's treatment, and perhaps imagining ſhe might be uſed with equal ſeverity, poſted immediately off to Peterſburgh, to wait for an opportunity of throwing herſelf at the feet, and begging the protection of the Empreſs.—Very fortunately, as ſhe entered the city, ſhe met her Imperial Majeſty returning from church, and followed the Royal coach ſo cloſely to the Palace gate, that ſhe found it no way difficult to execute her purpoſe as the Empreſs ſtepped out, which ſhe accordingly did, and with the greateſt ſucceſs.—Her Majeſty was obſerved to be greatly affected at the recital of the poor girl's melancholy ſtory, and ordered her to be properly taken care of, till the arrival of M. Carlowinſki, for whom ſhe immediately ſent. The moment he appeared her Majeſty ordered the young woman to be called in, and finding her complaint in every circumſtance to be juſt, reprimanded him in the ſevereſt terms, and ordered him inſtantly to make a proper atonement for the ſcandalous injuſtice and inhumanity of his conduct. M. Carlowinſki endeavoured to excuſe himſelf as well as he poſſibly could, and mentioned ſomething of the cuſtomary right which every Nobleman had to the perſon and property of his vaſſals: To which he: Majeſty made this remarkable reply: "Right, Carlowinſki! Nothing can be right which is repugnant to the Laws of Juſtice and Nature.—Would it not appear very extraordinary in me, if I was to ſeize upon your property and life, without having the ſmalleſt reaſon for ſo great a ſeverity? And can you poſſibly have ſo great a claim to any thing belonging to your vaſſal, or your tenant, as I have, both as Miſtreſs and Sovereign, to every thing which is my Subject's? I am ſorry to ſay, Carlowinſki, you are a Fool as well as a Libertine; but know this from me, Sir, that your vaſſals are my people; and be aſſured, that I ſhall ſoon take ſuch meaſures as ſhall make the greateſt man in my Dominions tremble, who thinks of exacting an obedience to his power from the unhappy peaſant, which is not due to his virtues.—The pooreſt wretch in my Empire, as a man, is entitled to my warmeſt protection, and ſhall always find a refuge in me, as long as he continues by honeſty and juſtice to deſerve it.

The conſequence of this affair was, that the old man and his daughter were declared immediately free, and Carlowinſki obliged to ſettle a hundred rubles a year upon them for ever, to which her Majeſty was pleaſed to order as much more to be added out of the publick revenues; and though a few of the nobility appeared diſſatisfied at this abridgement of their antient power, yet the Empreſs had the ſatisfaction of hearing her behaviour loudly applauded by the general voice of the beſt and wiſeſt in the kingdom."

ST. CHRISTOPHERS, March 14, 1772.

On the 10th inſtant came on in the Court of King's Bench, ſeveral cauſes of great conſequence, viz. ſeveral members of the Aſſembly of this iſland, who had been impriſoned by order of the Houſe, Plaintiffs againſt the Speaker for iſſuing the warrants, and the Serjeant at Arms of the Aſſembly for ſerving them, and falſly and illegally impriſoning the Plaintiffs. Some of the actions were on point of law and determined by the court, others on facts and referred to the juries. The cauſes were ſolemnly and learnedly argued, and all of them determined in favour of the Defendants——upon theſe judgments ſome of the Plaintiffs have brought writs of error.

The Aſſembly which ſat ſince the comencement of theſe ſuits, had ordered them all to be diſmiſſed, on which the Plaintiffs petitioned his Majeſty—who, in Council, gave orders under the Privy Seal, for ſetting aſide the Aſſembly's orders of diſmiſſion, and that the ſuits ſhould proceed without interruption, to a concluſion. Two bills of indictment were brought before the Grand Jury againſt Thomas Howe, printer, for publiſhing in his Caribean Gazette, &c. libels againſt the late Commander in Chief, and John Standley, Solicitor General. The Grand Jury found theſe, no bills. The proſecutors found means to bring them on again in another form, when they underwent the ſame fate, and were found no bills, to the general joy of the inhabitants.

CHARLESTOWN, (South Carolina) Aug. 24.

One batallion of the 60th or royal American regiment, is ordered to Jamaica under the command of Lieut. Col. Auguſtine Prevooſt, and the other to Antigua, under the command of Major George Etherington.

The ſeveral nations of Indians on the frontiers of the provinces, appear much diſſatisfied by the continual encroachments made upon the lands reſerved for them by his Majeſty; a number of idle and diſorderly perſons having built huts on their lands between the river Savanah and Ogeechee, his Honour James Habersham, Eſq; Commander in Chief of the province of Georgia, has iſſued a proclamation, ſtrictly commanding all ſuch perſons immediately to remove from the saidlaw &c, and all Magiſtrates and others, his Majeſty's liege ſubjects, are commanded to do all that in them lies for preventing encroachments of the like nature.

NEW-YORK, September 21.

By Capt. Manby, from Ocracock, in North-Carolina, in eight days, we have an account of the following veſſels being loſt at that place the firſt inſtant, in a violent gale of wind, viz. Capt. Clarke, in a ſchooner, from Edentown, loſt and all the crew periſhed; Capt. Pearſe, in a brig from the ſame place, bound to Jamaica, loſt, with the cargo, but the crew ſaved; Capt. Towers, in a ſchooner, from Boſton, loſt, the crew ſaved; Capt. Hill, from Virginia, the veſſel loſt, people ſaved; a ſloop of about fifty tons, loaded with cedar, for Philadelphia, loſt; and Capt. Mills from the ſame port, drove aſhore, but both their crews were ſaved; Capt. Done, in a ſchooner, from Connecticut, loſt, crew and cargo ſaved; Capt Coſter, from Edentown, loſt; Capt. Pender, from Newbern, loſt, cargo ſaved; Capt. Conway, in a ſloop, from this port, loſt, cargo ſaved; and Capt. Thomas, from this port alſo, veſſel entirely loſt, and the Mate and three of the people drowned; the Capt. three days after was taken up about ſix miles from the land from part of the wreck, by a veſſel bound in; and the ſame day a lad named John Burrows belonging to the ſame ſloop, was alſo taken up by another veſſel inward bound, from ſome of the wreck, 12 leagues to the northward of Ocracock, and a ſloop, name unknown, was drove out to ſea and never again heard of.

"Honour and Shame from no Condition riſe,
"Act well your Part, there all the Honour lies.
(POPE.)

OF all the Words in the Engliſh Language, I do not know one more uſed, more miſapplied, oftener proſtituted, or leſs underſtood than the Word GENTLEMAN.

I ſhall not take upon me to define the preciſe meaning of the Word by negatives, nor am I perfectly ſure I can define the Meaning of it at all, but I may ſafely affirm that it is not merely the rich Man, that it cannot be the proud Man, nor is it Title (whether by Creation or Deſcent) that delegates the Character.

On the other Hand, if the ſupercilious upſtart imagines he can impertinently impoſe on the judicious, a belief of his own importance ſo far as to induce them to think him the Man, he will find himſelf as much out in his Calculation, as when he illiberally contemns with the Epithet of low Fellow, the Man of contracted Fortune but untainted Principles.

While he inſolently arrogates, he may be admired, Nay! Gazed at by the ignorant, but will find that the Man whom he contemns, whom he looks down upon, will riſe ſuperior to his calumny and detraction.——He who has Spirit to ſcorn an Obligation to the Worthleſs, Talents to procure a decent Subſiſtence, with Integrity and Self-denial ſufficient to live within the Bounds of his narrow Pittance, ſtands a fairer Chance for the Title of GENTLEMAN than him who makes a prepoſterous Uſe of the Word by applying it always to himſelf.——Let the inſolent Wealthy read theſe excellent Lines of Gray——

"Full many a Gem of pureſt Ray ſerene,
"The dark unfathom'd Caves of Ocean bear;
"Full many a Flower is born to bluſh unſeen,
"And waſte it's ſweetneſs on the deſart Air.

The Quotation is in point, the Application obvious: Upon the Whole I believe it will be granted that neither Riches, Title, Pride, or Inſolence, are by any Means the Requiſites to form the GENTLEMAN: What are?——A Writer of ſome Reputation ſays——

"That the Word is formed of the French—Gentilhomme
"—or rather of—Gentil—faſhionable or becoming—
"and as the Italian has it—Gentilhuomo—or as in the
"Spaniſh Language—Hidalgo—that is, the Son of "Somebody, or a Perſon of Note. To go farther back
"we ſhall find the Word Gentleman derived originally
"from the Latin—Gentilis Homo—commonly uſed for
"a Race of noble Perſons born of free and ingenuous
"Parents whoſe Anceſtors had never been Slaves, or
"put to Death by Law."

I hope I am not too preſuming when I ſay I know ſome of the Requiſites, tho' not the Whole, to make this Character, I feel that I have ſome Ideas of it more exalted than I can well expreſs;—and I allow with the Author laſt quoted that Birth may poſſibly be a Step towards it, but by no Means an eſſential one; For,—will a Perſon of indifferent Birth, whoſe good Senſe and Principles incline him to aim at the Character, ſucceed in the Purſuit by imitating the Deſcendent of a Percy, or a Douglaſs, if he views him eating his Dinner in a Stable with his Friends Groom, and perhaps in the very Act of bribing him to betray his Maſter.

What Man of common Feelings, with but a Spark of Honour could without Indignation behold ſuch a Scene. I will venture to ſay the Picture is not exaggerated.

In ſhort, it is pretty plain that the GENTLEMAN is not to be found among royal Adulterers, or enobled Gamblers. If Men of princely Blood will overthrow the Bounds of Virtue, of Honour and of Hoſpitality, by debauching the Wife of their Friend, and if our Nobles are ſunk ſo far below Contempt as to corrupt the Servant of their Friend, they are miſerable Models to form this excellent Character by.

If, as it ſeems neceſſary to avoid the Examples of the Great, how much more is it, to beware the low bred imperious Man, who, without Birth, Politeneſs, Humanity or Principles, takes upon himſelf the Title. How contemptible in the Eye of the Deſcerning, is the Boaſts of him whoſe Anceſtors not half a Century ago, ſcraped together, (no one knows how) juſt Wealth ſufficient to make him inſolent and oppreſſive.

If this Character is odious, (as odious it muſt be) on the other Hand, how amiable is that Man, who thro' the Diſadvantages of Birth, of Education, and of Fortune, by the Complacency of his Manners, and the Integrity of his Morals, gains the good Opinion, nay, the Eſteem of all Ranks of People: This is perhaps a very rare Character, but however uncommon it is, if a Man would aſpire to it, he would approach much nearer than the Generality of the World, by their licentious Manners; nor is it ſo very difficult to attain would Men but obſerve but a very few practicable Rules.

If as the Author of my Motto ſays, it be true, and who will contradict his Aſſertions? That——

"An honeſt Man's the nobleſt Work of God."

Let every one remember that it is not in Nature to be a GENTLEMAN without being an honeſt Man, every one may be ſo if he pleaſes, and no Man can be ſo that preſerves not an inviolable Regard to Truth. Theſe are the eſſential Virtues. He that is in Poſſeſſion of them has made great Advances. If he will be polite in his Deportment, benevolent; (his Benevolence attended with Secrecy and Delicacy), and courteous to the Poor, but honeſt Man, below him, he will bid the faireſt for this noble Character which many attempt, but few arrive at.

RAN away from the Subscriber, on Monday last, an indented Servant Man named JOSEPH WELCH. He is about 24 Years of Age, small in Stature, wears his own black Hair, is sparing in Speech and hard of Hearing. He has many Scars in his Body, which he says proceeded from Boils. He had on, when he went away, an Osnabrig Jacket and Breeches or Trousers, Dowlas Shirt, Country made Shoes and Worsted Stockings, and a small Beaver Hat; but may have taken other Cloaths with him: He is much addicted to drinking, and apt to be intoxicated with a small Quantity. It is suspected he is lurking at some little Distance from Annapolis. He was seen by Mr. Brice Worthington in Company with Two other Men. He went off on Foot, but probably will steal a Horse, and his Course it is imagined will be towards Frederick.
